Science-Selected phytonutrient synergy, combined with good diet and healthcare augments immune homeostasis.

ImmuneACCORD™ is a mild seasoning imparting a subtle but powerful and pleasing accent to food that complements other flavors in the normal human diet. The Logic of ImmuneACCORD™

The unique properties of ImmuneACCORD™ derive from the collective interaction of spices such as turmeric, ginger, cinnamon, pepper and other flavorings that for thousands of years are known to be highly beneficial. People living in areas of the world that enjoy health-enhancing cultural and environmental factors such as exercise and low pollution, along with a diet rich in these and other phytonutrients used to create our product typically experience better health than residents of "fast food" cultures.

The designers of this technology have found ways of amplifying these properties using spice blends that work in concert with good diet. This is a process known as "summative synergy". Synergistically interacting phytonutrient mixtures have been demonstrated in laboratory studies to cause cellular changes consistent with strong innate immunity. Ultimately, the fundamental principles on which ImmuneACCORD™ is based have the potential to maximize phytonutrition and augment immune homeostasis.

ImmuneACCORD™ Development

This technology was developed by highly respected biomedical researchers at major centers of learning. The international scientific initiative, known as Summative Synergy Products Group (SPG) applied cutting edge analysis of older medical traditions such as Ayurveda (ancient Indian practice) to forge hard links between traditional and modern dietary practices.

ImmuneACCORD™

differs from immune supplements and other "health aids". Our product is based on extensive scientific studies related to phytotherapy that have provided a great deal of..

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

ImmuneACCORD™ formulations consumed regularly accent the spectrum of health.

ImmuneACCORD™ science considers the role of dietary phytonutrients such as those found in wine ("The French Paradox"), spices reflecting "The Reasoning for Seasoning" and Blue Zone diets that reduce visceral fat, and yield health benefits.

ImmuneACCORD™, like the design of the personal computer, is a collection of existing ideas that may do for phytonutrition what the personal computer did for information technology, allowing individuals more control over good diet and associated health benefits.

The Science of ImmuneACCORD™

ImmuneACCORD™ encompasses traditional herbal medicine and phytonutrition. Traditional medicine is not evidence-based science, yet it has yielded many clues to the medicinal properties in plants that have resulted in drug discovery. The health-promoting properties of phytonutrients on immune homeostasis response is fertile ground for scientific investigation of phytonutrition and phytotherapy.

The health benefits of individual foods, dietary nutrients such as vitamins, and pharmaceutical drugs are well documented. However the effect on health of phytochemical blends designed to cooperatively interact and strengthen the body's immune homeostasis has never been comprehensively studied.

For this reason, although ImmuneACCORD™ makes extensive use of both traditional and modern nutrition, it represents an entirely new approach to health through diet. Rather than introduce high levels of some natural or synthetic compound, our products are designed to reinforce existing dietary physiological mechanisms that support homeostasis.

ImmuneACCORD™ is the Apple of Phytonutrition

ImmuneACCORD phytonutrients are designed to accent good diet and foster immune homeostasis.

Take the ImmuneACCORD Seasoning Test

Record your weight and determine your waist-to-hip ratio. (Visit our website to learn about the health risks of "belly fat" and how to calculate waist-to-hip ratio). After using ImmuneACCORD Seasoning and dietary plan for one month, re-evaluate your weight and waste-to-hip ratio.

ImmuneACCORD is not a weight loss product that claims to "boost" metabolism or suppress appetite. Instead we promote good diet high in phytonutrition and with lower caloric intake than processed fast foods.

We encourage our customers to consult their physician regarding health, lifestyle and diet to augment the benefits of ImmuneACCORD™.
